

From the Genesee Farmer.

Thorn Fence.

We regret that there is so little attention paid to this branch of domestic agriculture; as it is scarcely probable that with all the hardy, thick-growing and spine producing plants of our country to select from there should be nothing suitable for the important purpose of fencing. We have seen acres of land, which had been cleared many years ago, and then left, covered with thorn that had sprung up spontaneously, and in impenetrable masses. In other parts of our country, the woods are filled with the native thorn. Now it may be considered a well established fact, that any plant or shrub that will spring up and flourish in a wild state, may, in the same place and soils, by a suitable course of cultivation, be made to grow in subservience to the wishes of man.

Thus there is nothing to hinder a first rate thorn fence in our soils. The difficulty of making the seeds of haws grow, has had its influence in preventing the culture of the thorn; but Mr. Chiswell, in a late number of the Cultivator, gives the following directions, which seem likely to be successful:

"The berries should be gathered when ripe and spread on a loft where they may remain until about February, when they must be soaked until the pulp becomes soft, which will only require a few days in a cellar; then they must be carefully mashed, so as not to break the seed, and the pulp washed off by rubbing the seed in a vessel of water, and pouring off the pulp until the water is perfectly clear; in this moist state seeds must be kept in a tight vessel in a cool and damp place, covered with a wet cloth, and turned upside down, or out of one vessel into another, about once a week, or as often as is necessary to prevent them from becoming too dry on the top.

As early in March—Mr. C. lives in Maryland; and here we should think April more suitable than March—as soon as the season will admit a seed bed to be prepared; one must be made which I would advise to be new laid, inclining to be a little moist. If the ground can be burnt first, so much the better. About this time you will find the seeds begin to burst, as soon as they generally begin to open and some to sprout, sow them broad cast and pretty thick, and cover them about one inch deep, by taking the surface earth with a spade or shovel, out of trenches wide enough for a man to stand in, at the distance of four feet apart, through your bed; which trenches serve to stand in to pick the weeds from the young plants, which must be attended to, as the plants at first are very tender, and would be lost by letting the weeds overrun them at first. If the weather is favorable, and the seeds in a proper state they will be up in a week, and will grow the first season from 12 to 18 inches high; the largest will do to plant in hedg; next spring, and the balance the following spring.

CURE FOR TOOTH-ACHE.—Mix alum and common salt in equal quantities, finely pulverized. Then wet some cotton, large enough to fill the cavity, which cover with salt and alum and apply it. We have the authority of those who have tested it, to say it will prove a perfect remedy.—Un. Agriculturalist.

DEMOCRATS, far and near, stand by your journals—USE YOUR STROGEST EFFORTS TO EXTEND THEIR CIRCULATION. This is the way to strengthen the hands of the advocates and defenders of your principles.—Boston Post.

KENDALL'S EXPOSITOR.

To the People of the United States:
THE undersigned proposes, as a future occupation, to publish, semi-monthly, a cheap newspaper, to be called KENDALL'S EXPOSITOR. Should the Administration be sustained in the present conflict, as his faith in the people persuades him to believe, there is still much to be done to secure the advancement and perpetuity of pure principles in our Government; and if perchance it shall be defeated, there will be more occasion for all honest efforts to prevent the mischiefs apprehended from the men who may come into power.

To these objects the undersigned has determined to devote the remnant of his life; and he can think of no means through which he can act so efficiently, as a newspaper cheap enough to be within the reach of every man who is able to read. Raised to labor on a farm, he has never ceased to cherish the interests of those who work for a living; and, knowing them to be the most virtuous and deserving portion of society, one of the most cherished desires of his heart is to see them aroused to the importance of giving more of their reading, their thoughts, and their time, to the affairs of Government. Yet, not to them exclusively, but also to all other men, who do not seek to obtain, through the laws, advantages over their fellow men, he will address himself in the proposed publication. The main objects noticed in this paper will be as follows, viz:

1. Suffrage is the basis of free government. He that cheats at elections is guilty of the worst kind of treason, and should be punished as a traitor. He who gives utterance to a falsehood, for the purpose of influencing a voter, is but little better. To denounce cheating, bribery, and falsehood, when detected, and suggest effective preventatives, will be a leading object of the proposed paper. In this the undersigned does not intend to be any respecter of parties; for the man who resorts to such means for the accomplishment of political ends, whatever he may call himself, is no Democrat, and is an enemy to the people.

2. Abuses of privileges and corruption have made much progress in the legislative department of our Government, and have occasionally shown themselves in other departments. These, as far as known, will be denounced, by whatever party they may be practised. In every abuse of privilege, or undue exercise of power, the individual committing it strikes a blow at public virtue, the only lasting basis of free institutions.

3. The principles of modern banking, and the manner in which banks and public debts operate upon the labor, trade, and property of the community, are not well understood. One of the chief objects of this paper will be, by facts and illustrations, to make these matters plain to all who will read and discuss the proposed remedies for existing evils. This will involve an exposition of the nature and uses of money, together with a history of the origin, progress, and effects of paper money in Europe and America.

To these will be added a notice of all new discoveries and inventions which promise to be useful to mankind, as also of facts, experiments, and improvements which may be instructive to the farmer and mechanic; a summary of news, foreign and domestic, carefully compiled, constituting an accurate history of passing events; abstracts of important public documents, and miscellaneous matter, selected and original, instructive and entertaining. In fine, the object is to furnish a newspaper which will present to the farmer, planter, mechanic, merchant, and all other readers, the true interests of those who live by the cultivation of the soil and other laborious occupations involving the interests of all useful trade, and incite them always to regard those interests, in voting for public agents; to inculcate that honesty and truth should be the guide of every man in public as well as private life; that a sacred regard for the rights of property, as well as personal rights, is essential to the happiness of man in a state of society; that it is only through a fair ballot that we should look for the correction of existing evils, and the prevention of those we fear; and that a true Democrat should never think of revolution by force until he finds himself deprived of the right of suffrage, or the voice of the majority is perseveringly stifled by fraud or force at the polls.

Though thoroughly Democratic in principle, this paper will not be made the vehicle of ordinary electioneering matter, nor will it engage in or admit mere personal controversies. It will not conceal its preferences for men or parties; but will seek to influence results only by appeals to reason, and through the instrumentality of fact and argument.

That a true Democrat ought never to despair, is the first article in the undersigned's political creed. Man is capable of indefinite improvement in knowledge and virtue. These are the bases of Democracy. If we know that he cannot reach perfection, we know also that he may become better than he is. Hope and faith are the motives of the Christian teacher. They should be the stay and stimulus of the Democrat. With him they are strengthened by knowledge; for he sees and knows that man is advancing, and may be made to advance more rapidly, in all those acquisitions which enable him to govern himself. If arrested by force or fraud to-day, he will resume his onward march to-morrow. By degrees, the great mass of men are becoming familiar with their rights and conscious of their power; they may become so well informed that none will attempt to deceive them, and so determined that none will dare to assault them by force. To aid in the improvement of man is the highest remaining ambition of the undersigned. He has seen much of the world, has had some experience in public affairs, has witnessed much human depravity, suffered some wrong, and met with much to discourage exertions for the good of his country and his race; but never for a moment has he lost his faith in man's high destiny, or relaxed his determination to contribute to his advancement under all discouragements. If he shall reap no personal advantage from this course, beyond a consciousness of doing his duty, his children, his children's children, and myriads of human beings hereafter to live, may, by his example and labors, however humble and feeble, be made more intelligent and more happy. At any rate, in this glorious hope he intends to labor, live, and die. Who will aid him in this undertaking? AMOS KENDALL.
